“Lights Out at Home”

Good Strategy or Bad? It asked on a listserv where experts post on bird collision matters whether there is any research about lights and residential bird collisions. This question raises an important question about the interrelationship of science and bird safety advocacy. We must base what we do on the best science we have. ### Protect the Birds You Love to Feed

Just like bringing a pet home from a shelter, we invite birds to our homes by installing nest boxes or feeders. If you adopt a pet you must show that you will provide it a safe home. Our birds deserve safe homes. Our Windows are a Major Threat to Birds Birds do not see windows Continue reading “Protect the Birds You Love to Feed”

Native Plants Popular Design

This is a couple of years old — but is still good news: Native Plants Increase property values.

“This past April, the American Society of Landscape Architects released its 2018 Residential Landscape Architecture Trends Survey, a members’ annual rating of the expected popularity of design elements. For the sixth year in a row, native plants Continue reading “Native Plants Popular Design””

Environmental Laws Are Christian Based

Our modern environmental laws are founded on the Christian values of the culture in which our system of laws was developed. Because some environmentalists hold non-Christian world views, some Christians, especially evangelicals, see modern environmental laws as rooted in pagan values. They are not. They are rooted in a system of law developed in a deeply Christian Continue reading “Environmental Laws Are Christian Based””

Native Plants for Birds: It’s A Different Strategy

I am a strong supporter of native plants for birds. The native plant promotion system we developed in our club has been very successful - 45% of members have planted native plants. It is also at this site: <https://birdfriendlyyards.net/freeplans/> However, building a bird friendly yard with native plants is different than planting native generally. Let Continue reading “Native Plants for Birds: It’s A Different Strategy””

New Hope for a Cat Friendly Option to Reduce Cat Predation

Although cats are the leading cause of bird deaths, membership organizations have been unwilling to address the issue because of the extreme reaction from cat lovers. It is now possible to address the issue with the support of cat lovers. It is with low dose cat contraceptives. Cat lovers who maintain colonies know that many Continue reading “New Hope for a Cat Friendly Option to Reduce Cat Predation””
